Dear RHSEU Student Supporters,

A big thank you to those parents that paid additional money towards their student(s) Fair Share this past week. Every dollar received really helps us achieve the goal of supporting the kids and the Music Program. The results were evident at the competition this past weekend and I hope you were in attendance to witness it. Truly though, the best part is seeing the kids have such a great time together, which only gets better through the season. Your payment of Fair Share is one of the big contributors to allowing this to happen.

I would ask that as we move forward if you have outstanding Fair Share to pay you do so as quickly as you can. While the last week of receipts was encouraging I'm still looking at what is fiscally responsible regarding the completion of the upcoming competitions. As a reminder, the complete Fair Share balance is due by November 15th, 2018 as we transition to preparation for the Winter Season. If my availability at the Thursday night practices to accept PayPal payments interests you, please let us know. I'll be there and even ask Financial Operations Manager Anna Daley to attend to make sure your account is properly credited at that time. If we have enough interest in making payment through PayPal this Thursday night, I'll even arrange to waive the PayPal service fee once again. It's a good way to support the program and also save a few bucks if you use a Debit Card or Credit Card. One more thing...we do accept checks as well.

If you are interested in making a payment this upcoming Thursday, October 18th, please let us know via Facebook messenger or email me directly at president@rhseu.org and I'll will arrange to be there at 8pm in the band room.

Thanks once again for everyone's support.
